WEST SACRAMENTO, CA., May 9, 2022 – Origin Materials, Inc. (“Origin,” “Origin Materials,” or the “Company”) (Nasdaq: ORGN, ORGNW), the world’s leading carbon negative materials company with a mission to enable the world’s transition to sustainable materials, today announced financial results for its first quarter ended March 31, 2022.

“We continue to execute on our plan and make progress on our mission to enable the world’s transition to sustainable materials. We remain well-capitalized, on track for completion of Origin 1 by the end of 2022, and the previously disclosed capital budget, construction timeline, and financing for Origin 2 are unchanged. We were pleased to announce new strategic partnerships with LVMH and Mitsubishi Chemical Holdings Group. These partnerships further increase our exposure to consumer and industrial end-markets including perfumes and cosmetics packaging and automotive. The LVMH partnership, in addition to being a new category expansion, will provide Origin with further access to European and international markets as we deliver sustainable packaging solutions across a family of renowned brands. The Mitsubishi Chemical Holdings Group partnership, which expands Origin’s international footprint in Asia, represents a significant opportunity in carbon black, a new product category for Origin. Approximately 70% of the world’s carbon black is used as a reinforcing filler in tires and the global market for carbon black is projected to reach $26 billion by 2025.¹ The demand for ‘net zero’-enabling materials remains strong, and our efforts to commercialize the business have resulted in increased offtake agreements and capacity reservations from our customers and partners to $7.4 billion, a more than sevenfold increase since our announcement to become a public company in February 2021,” said Rich Riley, Co-Chief Executive Officer of Origin.

Key Company First Quarter Highlights

Origin Materials has increased its total signed offtake agreements and capacity reservations to $7.4 billion as of today, up from $5.6 billion in February 2022. The Company also implemented new and expanded partnerships and customer relationships, including:

- Partnership with LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton, the global leader in luxury goods, to bring carbon negative materials to the perfumes and cosmetics industry. As part of the strategic partnership, LVMH has signed a multi-year capacity reservation agreement with Origin Materials.
- Partnership with Mitsubishi Chemical Holdings Group to develop advanced carbon-negative materials for tires, by converting hydrothermal carbon ("HTC") into high-performance analogs of specialty carbon black materials. The partnership will leverage Mitsubishi Chemical Corporation's global supply chain strength, access to Japanese and international markets, and technical innovation capabilities.

These partnerships complement Origin's existing partnerships and customer relationships with industry leaders including Danone, Nestlé Waters, PepsiCo, Ford Motor Company, Mitsubishi Gas Chemical, Kolon Industries, PrimaLoft, Solvay, Mitsui & Co., Ltd., and Minafin Group.

Origin 1 and Origin 2 Financing and Construction Update

The Company maintains that the previously disclosed Origin 1 construction timeline is on track, with mechanical completion expected by the end of 2022. Due to rising inflation and a more challenging supply chain delivery environment, Origin has updated its capital budget for Origin 1 and now expects a $15 million to $20 million increase from its prior outlook. The total capital budget for Origin 1 is now expected to be in the range of $125 million to $130 million, up from the original $110 million capital budget when Origin first announced its go-public transaction in February 2021. The additional capital budget includes an appropriate contingency reserve and will be fully funded from the Company's cash on hand.

During the first quarter, the Company hired additional members of the Origin 1 operations leadership team and started the process for hiring additional operations staff. Additional major equipment has been delivered onsite and set including the brine tanks associated with the ENCON evaporator module system. Piping and steel fabrication, which was started nearly 6 months ahead of the schedule announced in April 2021, is underway and on track, and the Company has started installing fabricated steel pipe racks in the field and interconnecting the plant's key production modules.

A new video marking construction progress for Origin 1 is embedded into this press release and is also available on Origin's Investor Relations site: <https://investors.originmaterials.com/>

The previously disclosed Origin 2 capital budget and construction timeline are unchanged. Front end design of the plant is underway with detailed engineering set to begin in 2023. The Company maintains that its financing assumptions for Origin 2 are reasonable and achievable, with Origin 2 fully funded from its existing cash on hand and previously indicated traditional project financing sources. Origin also continues to work with leading financial institutions on other forms of traditional private financing and federal loan programs, including through the U.S.D.A. and Department of Energy. In February, the State of Louisiana, pending finalization, awarded a Private Activity Bond volume cap allocation of $400 million to the Company for its selection of Geismar, LA as the site of Origin 2. The Company also expects to receive more than $100 million in pending state and local incentives for Origin 2.

About Origin Materials, Inc.

Headquartered in West Sacramento, Origin Materials is the world's leading carbon negative materials company. Origin's mission is to enable the world's transition to sustainable materials. For over a decade, Origin has developed a platform for turning the carbon found in inexpensive, plentiful, non-food biomass such as sustainable wood residues into useful materials while capturing carbon in the process. Origin's patented technology platform can help revolutionize the production of a wide range of end products, including clothing, textiles, plastics, packaging, car parts, tires, carpeting, toys, and more with a ~$1 trillion addressable market. In addition, Origin's technology platform is expected to provide stable pricing largely decoupled from the petroleum supply chain, which is exposed to more volatility than supply chains based on sustainable wood residues. Origin's patented drop-in core technology, economics and carbon impact are supported by a growing list of major global customers and investors. For more information, visit www.originmaterials.com.

Non-GAAP Financial Information

To supplement the Company's financial results presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States ("U.S. GAAP"), the Company also uses non-GAAP financial measures, including adjusted EBITDA, as supplemental measures to review and assess the Company's operating performance. Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income or loss adjusted for (i) stock-based compensation expense, (ii) depreciation and amortization, (iii) interest expense, net of capitalized interest, (iv) change in fair value of derivative liability, (v) change in fair value of warrants liability, (vi) change in fair value of earnout liability, (vii) professional fees related to completed mergers, and (viii) other income, net. The Company believes that these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information about the Company's operating results, enhance the overall understanding of the Company's past performance and future prospects and allow for greater visibility with respect to key metrics used by the Company's management in its financial and operational decision-making.

Non-GAAP financial measures are not defined under U.S. GAAP and are not presented in accordance with U.S. GAAP. These non-GAAP financial measures have limitations as analytical tools, and when assessing the Company's operating performance, investors should not consider them in isolation. In addition, calculations of this non-GAAP financial information may be different from calculations used by other companies, and therefore comparability may be limited.

The Company mitigates these limitations by reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable U.S. GAAP performance measures, all of which should be considered when evaluating our performance.

For more information on this non-GAAP financial measure, please see the table captioned "Reconciliation of GAAP and Non-GAAP Results" set forth at the end of this press release.

Reconciliation of GAAP and Non-GAAP Results

We believe that the presentation of Adjusted Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation, and Amortization (Adjusted EBITDA) is appropriate to provide additional information to investors about our operating profitability adjusted for certain non-cash items, non-routine items that we do not expect to continue at the same level in the future, as well as other items that are not core to our operations. Further, we believe Adjusted EBITDA provides a meaningful measure of operating profitability because we use it for evaluating our business performance, making budgeting decisions, and comparing our performance against that of other peer companies using similar measures.

We define Adjusted EBITDA as net income or loss adjusted for (i) stock-based compensation expense, (ii) depreciation and amortization, (iii) interest income, (iv) interest expense, net of capitalized interest, (v) change in fair value of derivative liabilities, (vi) change in fair value of warrants liability, (vii) change in fair value of earnout liability, (viii) professional fees related to completed mergers, and (ix) other income, net.
